The Basics: Organization & Definitions

There are seven principal ways we work together to accomplish Foundry's vision to love God, love each other, and change the world.

The Foundry Board: Is comprised of nine members, nominated by the Nominations Committee and affirmed by congregational vote at Church Conference. The Board works with the Senior Pastor to set the vision of Foundry United Methodist Church, empowering and supporting staff and ministry teams to:

- Articulate goals and vision for fulfilling Foundry's statement of call.
- Approve the appointment of the Senior Pastor pursuant to the Book of Discipline.
- Support and evaluate the Senior Pastor and support the work of the ordained clergy and staff.
- Ensure effective planning to accomplish and implement congregational goals.
- Monitor programs and services and identify opportunities to improve or strengthen congregational goals.
- Ensure adequate financial resources, protect assets, and provide proper financial oversight including approval of the Annual Budget. Ensure implementation of effective financial controls.
- Ensure legal and ethical integrity of Foundry United Methodist Church, including compliance with the Book of Discipline's requirements with respect to Council duties.
- Actively pursue learning opportunities related to large church structure and development.
- Build and maintain a competent Board by recruitment and orientation of new members, and annual self-evaluation of board performance through a report to the congregation.
- Appoint Foundry's lay delegation to the Baltimore-Washington Annual Conference.

Committees of the Board:

The purpose of Board Committees is to assist the Foundry Board in achieving the church's vision. They are created and staffed as needed at the direction of the Board. These standing committees provide necessary support for the short-term and long-term operational health of Foundry. They include: Personnel, Audit, Finance, Mission Possible, Governance, Facilities, and Nominations.

Ministry Teams:

Ministry teams promote the church's vision and strategy through work within our ministry areas, or departments. These include: Administration, Communications, Discipleship, Family Ministries, Hospitality and Congregational Care, Music, Social Justice, and Worship. Ministry Teams usually require a Ministry Team Description and work to set strategy, goals, and processes that empower our congregation to love God, love each other, and change the world. Any Foundry member, church attendee, or community supporter can join a Foundry ministry team. All teams are supported by an assigned Equipping Staff Person (generally a Ministry Director or clergy person).

Servant Leadership Teams:

Servant leadership teams promote the church's vision on a tactical or functional level across departments. Examples include: ushers and greeters, prayer teams, and hospitality on Sundays. Ministry Teams may (but not always) coordinate the functions of Servant Leadership Teams.

Small Groups:

Small Groups promote Foundry's vision through organized, ongoing, spiritually-based gatherings organized around the principles of prayer, theological reflection, fellowship, and service. Clergy/Staff do not lead these groups. Each small group is instead led by a lay-person, and engages different levels of Christian education and support. Examples include but are not limited to: Bible study, prayer, and practical theology. Small groups are often neighborhood-based, and form near areas where Foundry community members and/or constituents live.

Fellowship Groups:

These routine groups promote the church's vision by providing support to familiar phases of human life experience. Topic examples include retirement planning, parenthood, or stress management through yoga. Fellowship Groups are not led by clergy or staff; they are lay-led events emphasizing fellowship and community-building with a topical focus.

Classes:

Classes promote the church's vision through various learning opportunities. Classes can vary from short-term to longer-term, and cater to different ages. Subjects embody a range of faith issues, and life-faith interrelated study. They are organized by clergy and/or staff, in conjunction with Ministry Teams.

Growing & Developing Your Ministry Team

An important role of Christian leaders is calling new people into ministry and service. Some people come prepared to dive right into the work of the ministry team. Others benefit from help in getting ready to serve. The following strategies can help develop your team so that it is prepared to accomplish its work.

Be clear about the team's purpose and strategy.

Before inviting someone to participate on your ministry team, be clear about what they are being invited to do. Develop a Ministry Team description that succinctly lays out your ministry team's goals and connects the team's role to Foundry's mission and vision. Thinking through your purpose will also help you and others know your team's work and importance.

Have clear roles for each team member

People are busy. They need to know exactly what they're being asked to do before they commit their time and energy to your ministry team. Though ministry leaders might have in mind a clear role for someone to fill, team members may not be certain what is expected. It is helpful to write and share job descriptions, which we call Servant Leader Job Descriptions, for specific roles on the team such as recorder (secretary) or facilitator. You should spell out time commitments, necessary training, needed spiritual gifts, skills or abilities, and other information relevant to work on the team.

Develop an intentional plan to inviting people to join your team. Once you have developed your team's purpose, strategy and goals, consider when and how you will reach out to invite new people to participate.

a. Ask your equipping staff person to connect you with individuals who have the gifts, skills, and abilities the team needs. Communicate needs as they arise with your staff person so that the staff person can share that information with other staff to identify the appropriate persons to ask.

b. Be clear about roles, responsibilities, and relationships on the team. Decide the methods of decision-making in and between team meetings. Decide how you'll arrive at decisions and who is responsible for what. Create and keep an updated team covenant that outlines how you will work together, communicate with one another, and define your relationships with one another.

c. Identify specific times of year to invite new people. This designation of time enables you to be strategic in your outreach, including when to run bulletin announcements and set up tables in the Community Commons. Scheduling outreach also prevents 'reactive recruitment,' or inviting people because there is an urgent need for persons to assist with specific tasks.

d. Be prepared to provide new people with the information outlined above. As new members of an existing team, it is especially important for them to understand your team, its purpose, and their role.

e. Understand that people may sample your ministry team and decide it's not for them. Sometimes a team just isn't the right fit. That doesn't mean the person doesn't believe your team is important. Allow folks the chance to give it a try; if it is not the right fit, thank them and help them find a different place to serve.

f. Solicit feedback from new team members. Fresh eyes often help provide insights about a team's work such as new places to grow the ministry, increase communications, and improve the team culture. Follow up with new members to make sure they feel welcomed and supported, and that they have information needed to engage meaningfully.

g. Most important, be flexible! As new members' gifts emerge, be sure to utilize those gifts. Invite people to serve in places where they may best contribute and engage.

Develop a plan for training new members

New people need to understand what the team is, how it operates, and how its work fits within the larger work of Foundry Church. Develop and use a plan to help new members feel connected and ready to engage with the team. Strategies for this orientation include:

- a. Assigning a team member as a mentor or friend to stay in touch regularly with a new member.
- b. Setting aside a meeting annually or bi-annually to review purpose, strategy, and team operation. This review works best when inviting new members at specific times during the year.
- c. When a new member attends for the first time, reserve time for team members to introduce themselves, their role they play, and the reasons they are a part of the ministry team.
- d. Following up individually with new members within their first month or two of joining the team to make sure they feel connected and able to engage.

Create a culture of fellowship and care

Given the amount of work our ministry teams undertake, it's easy to be all business. People don't join teams just to do work. Other mutually supportive practices are important. Creating space for people to build relationships is important for the success of your team. Gathering prayer requests and praying as a team, setting aside time for fellowship, whether over a meal or outside of your team work, and making sure to follow up with absent members are all practices vital to building a strong team. Celebrate folks who leave the team, and thank individual members who complete particular tasks so that they know they are honored and appreciated by the team and the congregation.

Develop clear, measurable goals that align with team purpose and steps to achieve them

Once the team has written a statement of purpose and has a strategy for accomplishing it, set annual goals to measure the effectiveness of the team's efforts. Designate a meeting once a year to review your team's statement of purpose, identify evidence that the team has or has not accomplished that purpose, and set new measurable goals to focus the team's efforts on its priorities in the coming year. The team can provide feedback about the previous year's work, what is working well, and where the team needs to grow and go in the coming year.

Identify needs for training or ongoing learning (and a plan to meet them).

Does the team need to know how to execute events at Foundry? Are there specific tasks the team performs that require special knowledge? Do you need general knowledge on how to follow an agenda and accomplish your goals? Knowing what your team needs helps you develop a plan and find resources to empower team members.

Once you determine a need for training, inform your equipping staff person about what the church can do to help in that area.

So what's next?

If you need help developing a ministry team description, Servant Leader Job Description or team covenant, or if you would like someone to facilitate a team retreat for goal-setting or program-year planning, email your equipping staff person. A team member will be in touch to schedule a time to offer a team training or facilitate goal-setting. God has called you to unique and life-changing ministry, and together as the Body of Christ we have everything we need to do that. So dream big. Plan well. And celebrate what God is doing with you and with your team.

Financial Procedures

Reimbursement

Individuals spending money on behalf of Foundry United Methodist Church and expecting reimbursement should:

1. Contact the staff person related to the ministry area to approve any requests for expenditures.
2. Coordinate all purchases so that the staff person can make direct purchases by Foundry United Methodist Church to take full advantage of tax exemptions.
3. Provide original receipts to the staff person for all purchases expected to be reimbursed.
4. Make a request for reimbursement in writing with original receipts for reimbursement within 60 days of purchase.
5. Do not attempt to gain a tax exemption for any purchase that is not paid for by either a Foundry United Methodist Church check or a Foundry United Methodist Church credit card. This prohibition includes cash purchases. Attempting an exemption with payment other than by Foundry United Methodist Church check or credit card will put Foundry Church's tax exemption status in peril.

Budgeting

Ministry Teams should provide the Equipping Staff Person associated with their ministry information about any budget needs. The budgeting cycle begins in the summer of each year for the following fiscal year (January to December) as follows:

- Staff gather budgeting information by August.
- The Finance Committee of The Foundry Board assembles a draft budget together in September.
- A budget workshop (open to the Finance Committee, Management Board and all Ministry Teams) is held in late September or early October.
- Budget for the coming year is approved in the December Management Board meeting.

Congregational Communication

Ministry Area Announcements

- The Communications team, led by Kaylon Rutledge, will help you share your information with the Foundry community. As information about your event or initiative becomes available, please send it to Kaylon at kaylon@foundryumc.org. Our communications team will feed it into the appropriate communications channels.
- Information should be shared with Communications no less than two weeks prior to the date you wish to begin marketing the event or initiative.

Foundry Digital Newsletters

- All Things Foundry | Sent weekly on Sunday evenings to publicize Foundry news, updates, and upcoming events.
- Connections | Sent bi-weekly on Tuesdays to share information on classes, small groups, and other discipleship opportunities
- Kids Newsletter | The Foundry Family Ministries Newsletter is sent monthly to highlight Foundry Family Ministries' news, updates, and events.

Foundry Forge Newsletter

The Foundry Forge is distributed each month by email to the congregation. Print versions are available upon request at the Welcome Desk. The purpose of the Forge is to provide inspiration and information for the month ahead through the following:

A reflection from Pastor Ginger; a lay-written article sharing a member's account of their experience in some ministry, mission, or another service area of Foundry; dates of wide interest in the month to come; and "Did You Know?," highlighting a fact about Foundry that may not be generally known.

Ideas for lay-written articles are welcome, and can be emailed to Forge Editor Elder Wellborn at forge@foundryumc.org.

Notes:

1. Articles are no longer than 300-350 words, and should be emailed to the editor by the tenth day of the month before the month of publication. (e.g., October 10 for the November issue).
2. The editor is also happy to receive suggestions for "Did you know?" entries and information on upcoming events. Please include a sentence or two with essential details.
3. As a matter of practice, the editor is usually in touch with the appropriate staff member during the editing process.

Sunday Morning Announcement Guidelines

Verbal worship announcements are determined by clergy and staff during our weekly worship planning meeting. As an act of hospitality to those in worship, we attempt to keep these announcements brief, and only make announcements which impact the congregation as a whole or extend hospitality to first-time worshippers and guests.

Taking Group Attendance

Attendance can be a key indicator of group health. When group leaders take regular attendance at group events, Administrators will know if the group has grown too large or become too small.

After you've created an event, you can take attendance.

Record Member Attendance

A group's Events tab shows the attendance status for each event. Events are listed in chronological order and show the date, name, and attendance, if it's already been taken.

- Select Report Attendance to be taken directly to the attendance roster.
- Group leaders receive an attendance email approximately 10 minutes before the start of an event. You can also click the link in this email to get to the Attendance Report.

Create new event

If you are an Admin, you can also create the event from the Groups main page. If you do this, you will need to fill in details about the event before you go to the New Event page.

1. Choose a location from the dropdown and use Edit location to add a specific address, or, if you don't know the address, drop a pin at your location.
  2. View a preview of the map that members or non-members will see on the groups page (depending on the Group Settings).
  3. Enter the description for the event shown on the groups page.
  4. Set automated reminders for the event.
- Select Create event when you're finished, and your event will be added to the calendar!

Edit the Event

Select the event name from the list to make any changes.

View more details like a map of the location or select Edit event to make changes.

From this event page, you can send event reminder emails. Edit any information then scroll to the bottom and Save.

A visitor will be listed in the Visitor list until you use the buttons to promote or remove them, which can only be done on the attendance roster for the most recent event.

The screenshot shows the 'Event Details' form for an event titled 'Let's meet for coffee!'. The form includes fields for Event Name, Date (11/16/2018), Start time (7:00 pm), and End time (9:00 pm). There are checkboxes for 'This is a multi-day event' and 'Send reminder emails' (checked). A 'Repeat' dropdown is set to 'Never'. The location is 'Carlsbad Campus' with the address '6123 Yarrow Dr, Carlsbad, CA 92011'. A description field contains the text: 'Let's meet for coffee and fellowship! Please note that there will not be childcare available for this event.' At the bottom right, there are three buttons: 'Delete', 'Cancel Event', and 'Save'. A blue arrow points to the 'Save' button.

If your event repeats, choose to save only this event or all future events as well.

Cancel or Delete the Event

If you have an event that is no longer taking place, there are two ways to update your calendar:

Delete an Event: This is permanent and removes all traces of the event from the calendar. If attendance was taken and Visitors were listed, that information will be permanently erased as well.

Cancel an Event: Unless your event was created by mistake, this is usually the best option for events that aren't taking place. When you use this option, the event remains on the calendar (both online and in subscriptions) but is labeled as "Canceled" so that members are aware. Here's how these top options work:

On the group calendar, select the event.

If a member mentions they didn't receive an email, try these things:

- Check the People app to make sure their email address isn't blocked.
- Ask the member to tell their email provider to stop blocking Planning Center emails by adding `no-reply@planningcenteronline.com` and `no-reply@churchcenter.com` to their address book or by whitelisting those email addresses.

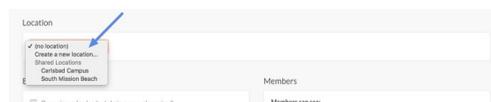

If neither of these help, contact support by clicking the ? in the top right corner of the app.

Adding and Editing Group Locations

- Select Save location to add that location to your group or event and save its preferences.

Edit or Delete a Location

- Locations might be longterm, temporary, or they may even change over time.
